

MHRP and Collaborators at IAS 2023

July 23 - 26
Brisbane, Australia

Presenter	(#) Title	Date	Time (AEST)	Session
COL Julie Ake*	Immunotherapies in acute cohorts	July 22	11:30 – 11:50	HIV Cure and Immunotherapy Forum - Session 2: Vaccines and Immunotherapy
Hannah King	Novel adjuvant ALFQ elicits a strong immune stimulatory signature that correlates with remarkable magnitude T cell and humoral immune responses following pox-protein vaccination	July 24	12:00 - 13:00	Track A
Allahna Esber	Immune activation is associated with low level viremia and noninfectious comorbidities in people living with HIV	E-poster	E-poster	Track C
Vamsi Vasireddy*	Using client-centered models to sustain HIV service delivery to key populations in Uganda	July 25	14:56 - 15:04	Track D late-breaker
Pathariya Promsena	High rate of hepatitis C and reinfection after direct-acting antiviral treatment among men-who-have-sex-with-men living with HIV in Bangkok, Thailand	July 25	16:11 - 16:19	It's all about the bugs: Other conditions in people with HIV
COL Julie Ake †	Panel discussion: bnAbs to unite prevention and cure research	July 25	19:21 - 20:00	bnAbs: From prevention to cure
Mary Anne Roach	Differentiating profiles of sex work and transactional sex among women in Kisumu, Kenya	E-poster	E-poster	Track D
Talia Loeb	HIV risk perceptions, knowledge, and information sources among reproductive-aged individuals in Kenya	E-poster	E-poster	Track D
Carlo Sacdalan	Sex and sexually transmitted diseases in time of COVID: sexual behavior and incidence of gonorrhea and chlamydia in an HIV observational cohort in Thailand	E-poster	E-poster	Track B

bold - MHRP

* - oral abstract

† - panelist

Saturday, July 22, 11:30 (AEST)

“Immunotherapies in acute cohorts”

COL Julie Ake will present at the HIV Cure and Immunotherapy Forum ahead of IAS. Join her in the second session, Vaccines and Immunotherapy, which begins at 11:05 AEST.

Tuesday, July 25, 14:45 (AEST)

“Using client-centered models to sustain HIV service delivery to key populations in Uganda”

U.S. Ambassador to Uganda, Natalie E Brown and Dr. Vasmi Vasireddy, WRAIR’s Country Director in Uganda, will discuss strategies to support uninterrupted HIV service delivery in the face of the Anti-Homosexuality Act (AHA) in Uganda. The presentation aims to understand the effect of the AHA on HIV service provisions and clinic attendance, and to identify ways to continue to meet needs of Key Population clients.